Claim 1, "a PIN-code service definition block in the memory space for defining a PIN-code service which verifies a PIN code before the service is provided, wherein the PIN-code service defining block includes a PIN-code service block configured to store PIN-code service data so that the PIN-code or the necessity to input the PIN-code vary from one access right to another relative to the corresponding user block".

Claim 7, "verifying a PIN code before the service is provided and via a PIN-code service definition block in the memory space for defining a PIN-code service, wherein the PIN-code service defining block includes a PIN-code service block configured to store PIN-code service data so that the PIN-code or the necessity to input the PIN-code vary from one access right to another relative to the corresponding user block".
